GENEALOGY

ADAMS FAMILY from the first of the name that came to America about the year 1630.

Illustrated by

Rev. Charles S. Adams,

Hillsdale, Michigan

1869

(Note: Mr. Adams is #131 in this record)

PREFACE

This genealogy extended to the tenth generation. In the five first, the male descendants only are given together with their places of residence, so far as known. The remaining five are the descendants of Michael Adams of Kellingly Court, my grandfather. The first five generations are distinguished by the different colored lines enclosing them. The first, Henry Adams, is enclosed in the telegraphic lines, the second in a circle of black and red, the third in green, the fourth in violate, and the fifth in brown lines and these are connected by red lines from father to son. The other five are numbered.

My aim has been to make a perfect family record, and I have nearly succeeded, as there are but a few names and dates that could not be obtained.

The original design of prefixing photographs of the parents or heads of families to each family record, has not been carried out only because they could not be obtained. But such as it is, with its imperfections and possibly some mistakes.

To Dea. Samuel Adams, of Milton, Mass.,

It is most respectfully dedicated,

By his affectionate brother,

Chas. S. Adams

THE ADAMS FAMILY

-8-Son, Name Unknown

-9-Son, Name Unknown

Henry Adams came from the county of Devonshire, England embarked at Bristol for America and came to the town of Braintree near Boston about the year 1630 with eight sons, four of whom, viz. Edward, Jonathan, Peter, and Henry settled in the town of Medfield, Joseph remaining at Braintree and Samuel and one other whose name is not known, from the best information went to Chelmsford, whose descendants could not be ascertained, and one returned to England.

H.E. For the above information and for the geneology of the family for five generations, I am indebted to the late Elijah Adams, Esq., of Medfield, Mass., who made the collection on 1798 from a number of recent records and papers and from the best information that could be obtained from people of great age and intelligence.

CHILDREN

THE HUNT CHILDREN

Amos Hunt's Children

1. CAMILLA, born at Northampton, Montgomery Co., N.Y., March 1, 1830. Married Thurston Howell, of Ohio, December 17, 1847, at Washington, D. C.
2. EMILSON, born at Northampton, Montgomery Co., N.Y., January 31, 1833. Went to Connecticut, N. H., in 1843. Was clerk in a store in that place for about nine years. Married Miss Emily M. Sedgewick, November 5, 1855. In 1867 moved to Albany, N. Y. Was clerk there for several years, then started a retail grocery, which he kept twenty-four years. In the year 1890 moved to Albany Park, N.Y., where they now (1894) reside and conduct a large seaside hotel.
3. ZEPHAN, born in May, Seneca Co., N. Y., June 27, 1836. In 1848 moved with his parents to Washington, D. C., where at the age of 12 years he went to work in a printing office and (with the exception of eighteen months that he tried farming), spent the next four years in printing offices, in the various cities from "Devil" to editor and proprietor. Married Miss F. Hunt, of Lexington, Ky., about 1858. First started in business for himself in Washington, D. C., in 1860, and in 1865, at the close of the civil war, he moved to Indianapolis, Ind., and has since made it his home in that state. During the year 1866 he was one of the publishers of the "New Albany Family Commercial". For several years he was editor and publisher of the "New York Journal", his brother Zeph being associated with him for a short time. After trying his hand at various other things for a year or so, he returned to the printing business and published the "Washington Post" for several years. He then owned the "Columbian" and "The Nation", and he published for over ten years a weekly paper which he still owns. He has been in the printing business for over twenty years and is now in the prime of his life in order to give his children the benefit of his father's experience and skill.

Descendants

Peter and Elizabeth Gribben

by Mrs. Mary C. Chapman

216 Carpenter St.

Clarksburg, W. Va.

This cannot be called a genealogy nor a history but just a bit of information on the descendants of Peter and Elizabeth Gribben as given to me by families or relatives.

So you will understand how it is written I have taken the eldest child (John) of James and Nancy Kerr Gribben; then John's eldest child, Peter, and his descendants down to the present day. Then John's second child, Idella and her descendants and followed by the rest of John's children and their descendants. Then back to the second child of James and Nancy Kerr Gribben (Peter) and his descendants to the present day and so on.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE MARQUIS FAMILY

Compiled by Miles Wilson Marquis (son of David V., son of William, son of William, son of Thomas, son of William the First) February, 1897.

In 1720, William Marquis and Margaret, his wife, emigrated from Ireland and settled on Opequehon Creek, Shenandoah Valley, Frederick Co., Va., near Winchester. They brought with them two children, Thomas and Mary, who were then about 20 years of age.

Soon after, Thomas married Mary Colville, and Mary, John Wilson. Mary died at first child birth and child also died.

John Wilson and Thomas Marquis owning jointly 300 acres of land then lived on it together until Thomas had seven children, 4 sons and 3 daughters. When Thomas was killed by a falling tree limb in corn field, Wilson then kept Thomas' family together until they were able to take care of themselves. Hence, they were called the seven orphan children. Their names, and those of their wives and husbands are given on the accompanying chart.

William (the oldest) inherited all his father's fortune, and James, by an agreement with his Uncle John Wilson, to name his first son "John Wilson," got the other half of the land. James and Mary Vance named their first son "John Wilson." The child died and they later named another son "John Wilson."

After Thomas Marquis died, the children were cared for by their Mother and her brother-in-law John Wilson, until the Mother also died. Mr. Wilson then kept the children together one year longer, during which time great attention was given to their religious education. Then, being old enough, they were put to trades and otherwise disposed of.

William, the oldest, son of Thomas Marquis and Mary Colville, married Elizabeth Vance. They had 10 children, names listed on accompanying chart. After Elizabeth died he married a Miss Hoge, and by her had two children. He lived on the old farm near Winchester, VA., until his death.

William, 2nd son of William and Elizabeth Vance, married (1st) Margaret Colville, who died without a living child. The children of his second wife Mary Park are listed on the accompanying chart.

David V. Marquis, 3rd son of William and Mary Park, was born in Belmont Co., Ohio, near St. Clairsville. He married Eliza Marquis, his second cousin, daughter of William, oldest son of Rev. Thomas. They settled in Crawford County, Ohio, where their first four children were born, near Bucyrus. Moved to Knox County, near Mt. Vernon, then in 1840 moved to Washington Co., Pa. In 1852 went to California to the gold diggings. Returned to Crawford County, Ohio, in 1859, and then to Seneca County, Ohio, where he died. Their children are as listed on the accompanying chart.

Miles Wilson Marquis, second son of David Vance Marquis, was born near Bucyrus, Ohio, removed to Cross Creek, Washington Co., Pa., when six years old. Took a classical course of study at Cross Creek Academy, first under Robert McMillen (Grandson of Dr. McMillen, founder of Jefferson College), afterwards under Thomas Stockton, oldest son of Rev. Dr. John Stockton. Attended normal school at Hopedale, Harrison County, Ohio. Taught school in Washington, Allegheny, Westmoreland, Fayette Counties, also in Virginia near Wellsburg and Bethany. Removed to Missouri, Macon Co., in 1865. Taught school until 1871. Was an insurance solicitor, and married Sarah Irene Gardner in 1862 in Pittsburg, Pa. Underwriter until 1888. Since then a traveling solicitor. The children of Miles Wilson Marquis and Sarah Irene Gardner are listed on the accompanying chart.

Minnie Marquis, their second daughter, married John L. Nichols, June 8, 1893. Their only child, Cora, was born March 23, 1894. Cora was married to Frank Joseph Naprstek on November 23, 1921. They have three children, as listed on chart.

Thomas, son of Thomas Marquis and Mary Colville, married Jane Park. He emigrated to Washington Co., Pa., near Cross Creek Village. At that period in the history of the country, the Indians were very troublesome; so much so, that the inhabitants had to assemble together in forts for mutual safety, near where he owned a farm. Indeed, on an adjoining farm was a fort called Vances Fort. Here during their sojourn, the spirit of God was poured out, and Thomas Marquis and his wife were amongst those hopefully converted. He at that time presented his oldest child for baptism, which was the first baptism of a child in that region. He was soon chosen as elder of the church which was then organized, but being impressed with a sense of duty to preach the gospel, he commenced a course of preparation to the ministry. He was licensed by the President of Radstone, and commenced his pastoral work in the churches of Cross Creek and Upper Buffalo. After preaching for a little more than two years in this United charge, he devoted all his time to the Cross Creek Church, where he labored with great success until he became infirm and unable to discharge his duties in the pastoral office any longer. He went to visit his son-in-law, the Rev. Joseph Stevenson, at Bellefontaine, Ohio, and there sickened and died; and in the cemetery at that place his dust sleeps. He was quite a celebrated minister, and was known as the "Silver Tongued Marquis." His children are listed on the accompanying chart.

William, first son of Thomas Marquis and Jane Park, married Sarah Marquis. He lived and died on his father's farm near Cross Creek Village, Pa. His children are listed on the accompanying chart.

Eliza, first daughter of William Marquis and Sarah Marquis, married David Vance, her cousin. See paragraph on David Vance Marquis.

This record shows that David Vance Marquis, my great grandfather, was the grandson of William, the oldest of the seven orphan children of Thomas Marquis and Mary Colville. Also that his wife Eliza, my great grandmother, was the grand daughter of the Rev. Thomas Marquis, the fourth son of Thomas Marquis and Mary Colville.

The Rev. Thomas Marquis is recorded in the DAR lineage books #121645, Bellefontaine Chapter.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE MARQUIS FAMILY.

In relation to the early history of the Marquis family, but little is known, no one having felt interest enough in the matter to leave any genealogical record; and what is proposed to be here recorded is what now can be gathered, being handed down from one generation to another, the record which will be here made is believed to be reliable.

The first information we have of the Marquis family is that William Marquis and Margaret, his wife, emigrated from Ireland in the year 1720, and settled in the Opuquchon Valley near Winchester, Frederick County, Virginia. It is not known from what northern part of Ireland they came. They brought over with them two children, named Thomas and Mary respectively. It is not known whether they left any children in Ireland or not. The two named are the only ones of which we have any record. From what can be gathered, these two children must have been twenty years old, or over, and they were both married soon after they settled in the Opuquchon Creek. Thomas married a Miss Mary Colville, and Mary married a Mr. John Wilson, and she died at the birth of her first child. The child also died. Thomas had seven children, four sons and three daughters, viz.:

Thomas, the father of these children, was killed by the falling of a limb from a tree while he was engaged in gathering corn. The care of the children then developed on the mother and brother-in-law, John Wilson. Mr. Wilson was a school teacher and a pious man. This arrangement continued for two years, and was interrupted by the death of the mother. Wilson kept the children together one year after the death of their mother, and during this period great attention was given to their education, especially their religious education. The children having come to a sufficient age, were put to trades and otherwise disposed of by Wilson.

VI-1 William, the oldest married Elizabeth Vance. The following are the names of their children:

William's wife then died and he was married a second time to a Miss Hoge, and by her had two children, Elenor who married James Jones, and Rebecca who died when a child. William lived on the old farm near Winchester, Va., until his death.

VI-2 James, the second son of Thomas Marquis and Mary Colville, married Mary Vance. According to the then existing law of Virginia, the oldest son inherited the estate of his father. Thomas Marquis (the father) and John Wilson (the uncle) owned a tract of three hundred acres jointly. William, the oldest son of Thomas, fell heir to one-half of the three hundred acres, and Wilson willed the other half to James, provided he would call his first son "John Wilson." This was accordingly done, but the child died young, and James called another son "John Wilson," which was born afterwards. Hence the name of "John Wilson" among the Marquises. The following are the names of James' children:

At that period in the history of the country, the Indians were very troublesome; so much, that the inhabitants had to assemble together in forts for mutual safety, near where he owned a farm. Indeed, on an adjoining farm was a fort called Vance's Fort. Here, during their sojourn, the spirit of God was poured out, and Thomas Marquis and his wife were amongst those hopefully converted. He at that time presented his oldest child for baptism, which was the first baptism of a child in that region of country. He was soon chosen as elder of the church which was then organized, but being impressed with a sense of duty to preach the gospel, he commenced a course of preparation to the ministry. He was licensed by the Pres. of Radstone, and commenced his pastoral work in the churches of Cross Creek and Upper Buffalo. After preaching for a little more than two years in this united charge, he devoted all his time to Cross Creek where he labored with great success until he became infirm and unable to discharge his duties in the pastoral office any longer. He went to visit his son-in-law, the Rev. Joseph Stevenson, at Bellefontaine, O., and there sickened and died; and in the cemetery at that place his dust sleeps. He was quite a celebrated minister, and was known as the "Silver Tongued Marquis." Children are listed above.

Mary Ellen Marquis died when a young woman.

Robert Marquis, son of John Marquis and Sarah Griffeth, was, when a young man, a school teacher, and teacher of music, having a very good voice, rarely surpassed in this respect. Dr. Stocking, the pastor of the Cross Creek Church, told the writer at one time, and in recording his life, he never had heard a voice to equal his. In recording his death in the church roll, in a note, stated that he had been the chorister of the church, and the very best one it ever had. He lived on a farm near Cross Creek Village, Wash., Co., Pa., and died there. His mortal remains rest there in the burying ground. He was married twice, first to Hannah Van Ordestrand, who died without children. Afterward he married Mary Stevenson, who died Nov. 7, 1868. By her he had four children, all boys: Newton, John Stevenson, Miles, and Robert.

Newton married Mary Patterson and lived on the old homestead farm of his father. He was modest, unassuming, and in a remarkable degree gained the confidence of all who knew him. He also had musical powers, and was for many years one of the choristers of the Cross Creek Church. He died when he was a comparatively young man, and his ashes rest in the Cross Creek Cemetery. He had two sons, the first lived but a few hours, and the second died before he reached the age of two years. His name was Alvin.

John Stevenson Marquis commenced a course of classical studies in an Academy in Cross Creek Village, under the supervision of John Marquis, and afterwards under Rev. John Marquis of Ill., later of Calif. He afterwards studied in the Academy at West Alexandria, Was. Co., Pa., and graduated there in Sept. 1848. Studied theology in the West. Theo. Sem., Allegheny City, Pa. Was licensed to preach by the Pres. at Wash. College, which met at that time in Grove Creek or Elizabethtown, Va. In April 1853 he was married to Margaretta Bryant McCaughy on the 8th day of June, 1853. In the fall of that year he went to Sisterville, Tyler Co., Va., and remained there four years. Was ordained in Apr. 1855 in the Fourth Church of Wheeling, Va. He left Sisterville and settled in Tuscarawas Co., O., preaching to the churches of New Cumberland, Big Springs and Fairmont. He resided at New Cumberland, Preached there four years and four months, then moved to Richmond, Jefferson Co., O., the 8th of April 1862. Was installed the June following over the congregations of Richmond, Bacon Ridge, and East Springfield. Was compelled on account of failing health to resign this charge and the pastoral relation was dissolved in 1865. He removed to a farm near Cross Creek Village and resided there until 1868, when he was called to Pidgeon Creek Church, Wash. Co., Pa. He labored there 17 years, and removed to Washington, Pa. He was four years professor of Greek at Jefferson Academy, Cannonsburg, Pa., and was slated supply of lower Ten Mile Church at Amity, Wash. Co., Pa., up to the time of his death which occurred Sept. 11, 1893, at Aledo, Ill. The names of his children are: John Stockton, Mary Bell Virginia, Caroline Elizabeth, and Hugh McConaughy.
